

Beau's Story

A Race Against Time

Lisa immediately knew something was very wrong when she saw the crumpled remains of her son's toy race cars on the floor next to Beau, the family dog. Putting two and two together, she rushed the dog to the veterinarian. The diagnosis was grim: Beau had eaten pieces of the toys and needed immediate surgery to save his life.

In all of Beau's years, he had never done anything like this before. But even more shocking was the bill for the surgery: $1,866.

Fortunately, Beau was protected by a VPI Pet Insurance policy and Lisa was reimbursed $1,139 for the veterinary expenses. But best of all, Beau's back at home now, on a car-free diet.

Which Level of Coverage is Best For You?

VPI Superior Plan

Our most popular plan offers the highest reimbursement payouts for veterinary expenses such as accidental injuries, emergencies and illnesses, including cancer.

VPI Standard Plan

An economical plan that offers a more moderate level of reimbursement.

VPI Avian and Exotic Plan

Medical coverage for birds, reptiles, rabbits and other exotic pets.

Pet WellCare Protection™

Optional coverage added to your VPI Superior or Standard Plan provides reimbursements for preventive and routine care. Choose from Core or Premier coverage levels.

VPI Enhanced Cancer Rider

VPI's plans already include some cancer coverage for conditions such as skin cancer, bone cancer and leukemia. For those looking for more protection, VPI offers a Cancer Rider, which increases the policy's reimbursement benefits.
